FEW CANDIDATES IN RACE THUS FAR

Council Not Likely to Elect Richardson's Successor Until September.

Contrary to expectations, there is no list of candidates in the field for Mayor Richardson's successor. According to the present opinion, Mayor Richardson will not resign immediately, which means that his successor will be elected by the new Council, which takes office in September. Mayor Richardson is going West this month, the Huntingdon Court will be adjourned to day after tomorrow, and there is no special reason why he should immediately resign to leave an open chair as James W. Smith.

As announced in The Times-Dispatch yesterday morning, William T. Dabney will not be a candidate because the Council, L. Z. Morris, who has been prominently mentioned, is not a resident of the city. It is thought that he could not resign without incurring the wrath of his constituents. He would have to leave the city, and his resignation would be a serious blow to the city.

Friends of Captain George Ainslie have been actively at work in his behalf, and he has received assurances of hearty support. While he had not authorized the use of his name up to this time, it was announced that his friends felt that he would accept the nomination, and they have found that his candidacy has been favorably received. Captain Ainslie was a former member of the Police Board, he was an ardent supporter of the new form of government, and has been actively engaged in the various phases of the city's development since he led to the creation of the Administrative Board.

Councilman Jacob Lindorf stated last night that the announcement of his candidacy for Mayor was somewhat premature. In an election before the Council elected Mr. Lindorf, and I understand that there will be no popular election until the spring of 1933. I have been frequently urged to run for public office, and a number of my friends have suggested to me the propriety of entering the campaign for Mayor. If they are of the same mind when the time comes, I shall probably be a candidate before the people in the next election.

TRAGIC DEATH OF ROBERT D. SMITH

Accidentally Killed Three Days After His Marriage to Miss Lillian West.

JUST BACK FROM VACATION

Revolver Discharged While He Was Trying to Remove Cartridges in His Room.

Robert D. Smith, of 203 West Main Street, who accidentally shot himself with a pistol early yesterday morning, died at St. Luke's Hospital last night at 7 o'clock. The evidence clearly points to the fact that the shooting was accidental.

A peculiar tragic circumstance in connection with the young man's death was the announcement yesterday that he had married Miss Lillian West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. West, of 3431 Elm Avenue, at Elizabeth City, N. C., on Monday. His bride was visiting relatives in Hampton when she was married to him. The young man was in the city on business, and he was in the city on business.

Mr. Smith had been spending his vacation in Matthews county, where Miss West also had been visiting. On Monday, he returned to the city, and he was in the city on business. He was in the city on business, and he was in the city on business.

Intending Revolver in Room.

When the surgeons at St. Luke's found that there was no hope of saving Mr. Smith's life, he was notified, and in a conscious moment he spoke to his father of the accident, explaining that while dressing yesterday morning he attempted to unload a revolver, that the cartridge stuck in the chamber, and as he reached for his knife to pull them out, the weapon was discharged. The bullet entered the abdomen not far from the heart.

Aubrey Smith, a brother, who occupied the adjoining room, was suddenly aroused from his sleep by a loud report. While investigating, he heard cries from the room, Robert Smith saying that he had hurt himself. The door was locked, as usual, but it was broken down with an axe. Medical help was immediately summoned, and the patient was hurried to St. Luke's Hospital. Every possible effort was made to save his life.

Few of Mr. Smith's friends had heard yesterday of the wedding, and the family was surprised to learn of the fact that until after the shooting Mr. Smith, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Smith, is survived by three sisters and three brothers. Arrangements for the funeral have not been announced.

ACTIONS VALIDATED

Committee on Relief of the Poor Makes Legal Former Meeting.

At a meeting held yesterday afternoon, the work of the committee at a meeting held on July 25 was considered. It was determined that the actions taken by the committee at the meeting were legal. The committee was composed of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Smith, and it was reported that the committee was very active in its work.

LIQUOR WASTED AT GAS-WORKS

But It's a Bi-Product, and It Will Not Make Anybody Drunk.

Letters were presented to the Council Committee on Light last night from C. C. Bailey, contractor for the purchase of ammonia for the city's gas works, complaining that the city was not extracting a sufficient quantity of ammonia from the gas to make him contract profitable. He asserted that he was not getting more than 50 per cent of the product and that the balance was being allowed to go to waste. Superintendent Knowles claimed that the city was living fully up to its contract with Mr. Bailey, that as large a percentage of ammonia was being separated from the gas as was customary, and that Mr. Bailey had not equipped himself with proper appliances to prevent leaks and evaporation after the liquor is delivered to him.

BECK WILL PICK BEST OPERATOR

Civil Service Test for Applicants Who Desire to Run City Hall Elevator.

A civil service examination is to be conducted by Building Inspector Beck to select a suitable elevator man for the city hall. The city hall cars for eighteen years, notified the Council Committee on Grounds and Buildings last night of his resignation, having accepted a position with the State Department of Public Printing.

The position came from S. J. B. Wright, a city hall janitor, and it was stated that two other employees of the building had asked for the position. Alderman Melton proposed that the Building Inspector give each applicant a trial—allow each to run the car for a few days and select the best operator.

Southside Complaint. Councilman Brown notified that the workmen employed in Washington Square, South Richmond, and no force could be used to get them to work. He stated that the workmen were in the city on business, and he was in the city on business.

DOCTORS FAILED TO FIND TYPHOID

Lack of Epidemics in Virginia Disarranges Plans of Medical Force.

The elaborate preparations made by the State Health Department to investigate and handle epidemics of typhoid fever in Virginia this year have gone awry. This is simply because there have been no epidemics.

Assistant State Health Commissioner Allen W. Freeman has charge of typhoid matters. Through the efforts of Commissioner Emmett G. Williams, the United States Public Health and Marine Hospital Service gave the services of Dr. Lumsden to assist in investigating all outbreaks of any size. In addition, there are Virginia physicians in different localities who were secured to give aid when the time came. The time has not come. For the first time in the history of public health work, no epidemic of typhoid fever has appeared anywhere in the State this year. Of course it is not too late, and the dry weather may yet produce the epidemic.

So the typhoid specialists have found little to do. They have had no work to give them the experience they had expected. Increased sanitary regulations and public information are given credit for a large part of the improved conditions.

PRIMARIES ARE CALLED

Sixth District's Mistake is Corrected by Agreement.

Irregularities incident to construction of the new primary law having been smoothed out, Secretary of the Commonwealth E. O. James has issued calls for the primary elections to be held in the First, Third, Fourth and Sixth Congressional Districts.

It seemed plain that in the Sixth the law was not complied with. The statute sets forth that when a party cannot nominate a candidate for primary, it shall notify the Secretary of the Commonwealth at least thirty days in advance of the day set for the primary election. This was not done in the Sixth District, the notification having been withheld until it reached the Capitol with less than thirty days before August 5, the day when the voters of the district will record their choice for Congressmen.

At first it seemed that some new date might be set. But the three candidates—Congressman Carter Glass, former Senator Don P. Hall and T. H. Tilghman—got together and decided that any objections because of illegality of procedure in this regard should be waived. This did not settle the matter, however, as the law was not complied with. The law was not complied with, and the law was not complied with.

Candidates for the Administrative Board are invited to address the members of the Business Men's Club, not all at once, in a huge and tiresome mass-meeting, but one at a time, day by day, until all have been heard, and the club members have had an opportunity of judging for themselves for whom they will vote.

Several hundred well-known men gathered at the club rooms on the Tenth floor of the American Bank building for lunch. The directors have issued invitations to the candidates to speak for not more than ten minutes, at 2 o'clock, only one to be heard each day.

The series begins next Monday at 2 o'clock, and the candidates will be heard in alphabetical order, as follows: Monday, August 5—Henry P. Beck; Tuesday, August 6—A. W. Bennett; Wednesday, August 7—George R. Davis; Thursday, August 8—John F. Don Leavy; Friday, August 9—E. H. Ferguson; Monday, August 12—E. C. Folkes; Tuesday, August 13—M. G. ADJOURN INQUEST UNTIL TO-MORROW

Coroner Taylor Wants Testimony of Youths Who Were in Car Which Killed Parsons.

In order to get the testimony of John S. Martin and Charles R. Robertson, who were in the automobile which was wrecked Wednesday morning in the Malottian Turnpike, causing the death of Lewis Caryl Parsons, eighteen years old, Coroner Taylor, yesterday continued the inquest until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Martin is ill at his home as the result of the shock and Robertson is at the Memorial Hospital. Both, it is expected, will be sufficiently recovered to testify when the inquest is resumed.

Dr. Taylor began the inquest yesterday morning by calling William P. Forbes to the stand. Forbes was driving an automobile which left Bon Air at the same time with the party in the car which was wrecked.

He denied that he was racing the other machine, which was being driven by Robertson, and also that any of the young men had been drinking. It was his opinion that the accident was due to a tire blowing out, causing the machine to swerve into the ditch where it turned turtle.

The witness said that Robertson's car had encountered trouble before the accident, and that he and his party had stopped to lend aid in repairing the machine. He then started finding in about ten minutes that Robertson was not in sight, he thought the car might have again met with an accident, and he was horrified to find the wreck. Parsons was barely alive. All three of the young men were brought to the city.

CHAMBER COMMITTEE REACHING OUT FOR TRADE

The committee in charge of the Chamber of Commerce Bureau for Trade Extension met yesterday in the city hall for the purpose of reaching out for trade by circulating a campaign of newspaper advertising with personal appeals to merchants throughout the state in which Richmond has the advantage over competitors in the matter of better prices and lower freight rates.

The committee decided that it was necessary to freely distribute in that territory, supplementing and amplifying the work of the bureau already in place in the newspapers. This part of the publicity campaign was placed in the hands of the bureau, and it was decided to send out a secretary-treasurer of the bureau.
